Building contemporary pharmacy practice through innovative education

UQ's Pharmacy Intern Training Program (ITP) provides intern pharmacists with specialised training and skills in all areas of pharmacy practice.

Our unique program combines academic excellence with pharmacy practice to provide intern pharmacists the opportunity to build on their ITP year and obtain formal postgraduate qualifications, towards a Graduate Certificate in Pharmacy Practice (GCPharmPrac).

About the Program

UQ's ITP is an integrated, flexibly delivered program with a blended mix of course delivery.

It consists of workplace activities, online self-paced background study material and online group discussions, all of which are supported by interactive face-to-face seminars, at the Pharmacy Australia Centre of Excellence (PACE). We focus on hands-on, small-group learning.

Throughout the program interns will develop and apply knowledge and skills in the following areas:

- Pharmacy legal and professional requirements
- Primary health care
- Communication of health and medical information
- Therapeutics
- Clinical pharmacy
- Dispensing, dispensing procedures and risk management

- Patient interviewing and medication review
- Drug interactions and adverse drug reactions
- Identifying and managing prescription problems
- Critical thinking and problem solving
- Medicines information
- Complementary medicines
- Evidence based practice
- Calculations
- Health promotion and harm minimisation

an edge over the competition. Completing the GCPharmPrac with UQ will provide that edge.

In addition, completion of the GCPharmPrac provides credit towards further study in our Postgraduate Clinical Pharmacy programs.

Intern pharmacists who do not wish to complete the further two courses may exit after completing their ITP (1 year part-time).

Enhanced Career opportunities

When undertaking UQ's ITP, you have the opportunity to obtain a GCPharmPrac by completing an additional two courses (1 year part-time) of study.

This is not compulsory, but with the market becoming increasingly competitive, it is important to have

THE UQ DIFFERENCE

Proven track record in high-level postgraduate clinical training

Professional integration

Our graduates are leaders in the profession

Ranked in Top 50 universities worldwide (QS World University Rankings 2017)

Consistent recognition for teaching excellence

Cost

Approx. $2,228 for the ITP component (2 semesters, part time) – based on 2016 fees.

UQ offers Commonwealth supported places to domestic students for the program. This means that eligible (conditions apply) interns can choose to complete the program with no upfront cost. As you enrol in 1 course each semester, payments are made in 2 stages by each semester payment due date.

Going national with NAPE

NAPE is the National Alliance of Pharmacy Education, of which UQ is a founding member. It comprises four leading Australian Schools of Pharmacy: UQ, Monash University, The University of Sydney and The University of South Australia.

Interns in UQ's ITP will benefit from this alliance as the sharing of expertise and knowledge between NAPE members will enable the delivery of high-quality, dynamic courses taught by experienced educators and practitioners.
