WHY STUDY AT UQ?

A recognised qualification

UQ Bachelor of Pharmacy (Honours) graduates practice around the world, including in Australia, Canada, Malaysia and Singapore. Australian registration necessitates meeting standards set by the Pharmacy Board of Australia (PBA), including completing an Intern Training Program, 1,824 hours of clinical practice and examinations approved by the PBA, after graduation.

Scholarship

The Faculty of Health and Behavioural Sciences and the School of Pharmacy offer a $3000 scholarship to be paid during the first semester of study to an international student who enrolls directly into the Bachelor of Pharmacy (Honours) program. Allocation is based on academic achievement. All eligible applicants are considered automatically (no application form required).

Opportunity to undertake individual research experience

The Clinical and Experimental Therapeutics major is for high achieving students who want an in-depth research experience. Students undertake a research project under the guidance of an experienced researcher with no extra time or cost. Past UQ Pharmacy graduates now have successful careers in pharmaceutical companies, research institutes, hospitals, government agencies and universities — in Australia, UK, USA, Malaysia and Singapore.

Gain real work experience from your first year of study

You will benefit from a comprehensive work experience program which enables you to experience a diverse range of career options including community and hospital pharmacy. You can also engage in placements based in community health clinics, ambulance services and other areas where medicines experts contribute.

Benefit from SCRIPT

An award winning communication program specifically for Pharmacy students. Developed by UQ School of Pharmacy, the Skills for Communicating and Relating in Pharmacy Training (SCRIPT) program helps students master cross-cultural communication with patients and health professionals, increasing employment prospects.

An interprofessional education experience

HLTH1000 Professions, People and Healthcare is a new course that engages first year students across the Faculty of Health and Behavioural Sciences programs. Students learn about health and wellbeing from a range of perspectives and how to navigate the complexity of health and social care systems locally and globally. The course provides a multidisciplinary, interactive experience which will set you apart as a UQ graduate and lay the foundation for your development as a leader in your chosen profession.
